Renewable energy together with agriculture is a great profitable business.
It has been 30 years since the company was founded.

We are working to improve farmers' incomes and create new forms of agriculture. Currently, we are developing direct sales of agricultural products, agricultural production, renewable energy power generation, and overseas JCM business. Food, electric power, and the global environment are growth industries, and environmentally friendly technologies and know-how are required. The keywords are safety, security, and eco-friendliness. We have created a new business format for society and lifestyles, and have become the number one farmer-type power generation in Japan that simultaneously cultivates vegetables and electricity. Food and electricity are indispensable in an affluent society!

We will continue to have dreams and take on new challenges.
